FUND COMMENTARY

Capitec delivered solid results for the financial year ended 28 February 2021. Results were particularly strong in the second half of the financial year, with the businesses delivering a 30% return on equity, of which 6% was due to lower than normal provisions. This was a welcome improvement given that the group's total provisions were exceptionally high at 25% of gross loans and advances at the end of the first half of the financial year. Required levels of provisioning have begun to decline to 24% by year end compared to a level of 18% prior to the onset of the pandemic. The group's loan probability of default reduced significantly as the domestic economy recovered, even throughout the second wave of the virus experienced in late 2020 / early 2021. Exposure to the South African hospitality sector, which remains under pressure, is only 2%.

Capital adequacy of the group improved to 37% from 30% at half year, supported by the strong return on equity generated and no interim dividend paid during the year. Capitec declared a full year dividend of R16 per share, materially ahead of the R7.55 per share declared in the prior financial year and a reflection of the capital strength of the group.

Capitec's transactional franchise had a strong year. Non-interest revenues now cover 99% of the bank's operating expenses, continuing to reduce the reliance on the lending business to achieve earnings growth. Clients grew +12% to 15.7 million. Deposits grew +18% as the business increased market share of retail deposits to 10%. Transactional volume increased 17%. Funeral income grew 57% to a meaningful R650 million with the group writing 37% of all new policies in the market. Credit life insurance income was R965 million (FY20 R981 million) demonstrating the resilience of this business. Higher premiums charged and lower reinsurance premiums paid made up for the higher claims paid. Digital migration accelerated across the group's clients. Going forward, the group continues to look to migrate clients to digital self-service whilst using their platform and branch network to continue to launch new products and gain new clients.
