FUND COMMENTARY

The JSE All Share Index (ALSI) posted a 0.8% decline for the 3rd quarter of 2021, taking the JSE All Share's year-to-date return to 12.2%. At a sector level, the JSE Financial Index was the top performing sector with a 12% return. The JSE Resource and Industrial Indices lagged with declines of 3.6% and 4.3% respectively over the quarter. The quarter started with the rioting and related events in KZN, which spread to certain areas in the country. Although the events lead to widespread and unfortunate damage and losses, best-of-breed investee companies have in general demonstrated their resilience, adaptability and business strength through this regrettable period. During the quarter, Prosus completed their exchange offer for Naspers shares. Prosus offered Naspers shareholders 2.27 new Prosus shares for 1 Naspers share tendered. The tender offer proceeded, the result being Prosus now owning 49% of Naspers. Naspers and Prosus proved to be detractors for the quarter, declining 16.9% and 14.5% respectively. Despite Tencent reporting impressive half year results during the period, headlines were focussed on regulatory developments in China. The results did serve to highlight the resilience of Tencent's diversified business model. In addition, we are also seeing growing evidence of delivery from Prosus' management team across their key (non Tencent) operating segments. On the domestic front, Covid vaccinations gained momentum with 36% of adults fully vaccinated at 30 September 2021. Vaccination hesitancy, rather than availability, now appears to be the biggest challenge to achieving the government's targeted vaccination levels. The recovery in domestic economic activity continues with GDP growth estimates for 2021 revised upwards and Google mobility trends showing 'time spent at workplace' now only 6% below pre covid average levels. Taking stock of the overall market's performance since the onset of the Covid pandemic in early 2020, the JSE ALSI has returned just over 20% since 1 Jan 2020. Despite the recovery, the ALSI is trading on a forward PE of 8.8, significantly below the 20 year average of 13.5.¹
