FUND COMMENTARY

Changes to the composition of the Stonehage Fleming SCI Equity Fund are not commonplace given the long-term, concentrated approach employed to manage investor capital. July 2019 saw two changes made that we believe enhance the quality and longer-term return prospects of the portfolio:

We sold Sasol. A sustained lack of delivery on various fronts and increasing ESG concerns necessitated a downgrade to our assessment of Management Stewardship. Aggressive capital expenditure and lower profitability has seen Business Strength weaken materially: return on invested capital has declined from nearly 20% five years ago to below 5% in the most recently reported financial year. Leverage is elevated and the business is reportedly considering asset disposals of ~$2.0 billion in addition to guiding a ~46% reduction in capital expenditure over the next two financial years. In terms of Sustainability of Growth, weaker expected economics at their US LCCP project (i.e. returns below the cost of capital) raise clear question marks with respect to sustainable free cash flow generation (and ultimately dividends) at Sasol. Accordingly, we exited our long-held position in Sasol in the belief that investor capital can be deployed to more attractive opportunities from a Quality, Risk and Value perspective.

We bought Dis-Chem: Dis-Chem has a durable regulatory and scale advantage as a retailer, using its designated service provider status to lower dispensing fees and drive footfall into its large front shop. The economics of a Dis-Chem store are highly attractive with mature trading density averaging over R100,000 per sqm with excellent profitability. Over the last 5 years, the business has opened 80% more space to 208,000 sqm, consistently gaining market share across all categories from year to year. Over this period returns on equity averaged 49% despite 40% of stores having not yet reached maturity. We anticipate durable free cash flow growth, with strengthening fundamentals as this rapid rollout of stores slows over the next 5+ years. After the euphoria of the listing, the current valuation is more attractive and Dis-Chem is expected to generate strong returns for shareholders.
