

OUR FUNDAMENTAL QUALITY PILLARS - IDENTIFYING BEST OF BREED BUSINESSES

FUND OBJECTIVE

The objective of this portfolio is to provide above average growth in capital over the medium to long term. Income will be of secondary importance. The risk associated with this portfolio shall be the same as the risk associated with SA equities as an asset class. Volatility of capital can occur over the short-term.

FUND STRATEGY

The portfolio shall invest in assets in liquid form and in securities across all sectors of the JSE Securities Exchange of South Africa as well as international exchanges and other permissible assets allowed by the Act. The portfolio shall be allowed to invest in listed and unlisted financial instruments (derivatives) as allowed by the Act from time to time in order to achieve its investment objective, and shall be permitted to invest in offshore investments as legislation permits. This portfolio will invest predominantly in equities. Apart from the above, the portfolio may also invest in participatory interests of portfolios of local and foreign collective investment schemes.

The fund will be managed with a high conviction approach, typically holding no more than 20 positions at any time. In line with the investment manager's investment philosophy and process, the holdings will be concentrated in selected JSE Top 50 companies with the buy-to-hold management approach encouraging minimal portfolio turnover.

FUND COMMENTARY

Through JSE listed company results and updates, investors have now had the opportunity to better digest the fundamental impact of the Covid crisis on each company and sector. We have identified the following themes in our universe of best-of-breed JSE listed companies: 1. Macro-economic conditions and Covid related lockdowns are beyond the control of even the most disciplined and return-focused management teams. What matters most during times of severe stress is how quickly and effectively management teams are able to adapt to factors beyond their control. A central theme among the best quality management teams has been the focus on cash flows. These teams have delivered through efficient working capital management and decisive action on discretionary capital expenditure. 2. Companies entering the crisis in strong financial health, with appropriate debt levels and little reliance on external funding, and with a durable competitive advantage have proven resilient and should ultimately come out of the crisis as even stronger businesses. These companies now find themselves in a position to enhance shareholder returns through maintaining dividends, possible share buybacks or even opportunistic acquisitions. 3. Very few companies have not felt the impact of Covid at the revenue line. Astute management teams have used their competitive positioning to adapt business models appropriately, achieve efficiency gains or even gain market share, somewhat alleviating profit line pressure and positioning these businesses to deliver optimal and sustainable future growth. Management teams and business models have faced, and continue to face, unparalleled operating conditions. We will very likely see further disappointments from lower quality companies. Despite this we have already seen clear illustrations of commendable execution and adaptability on behalf of respected management teams. Notwithstanding the Covid related fallout and macroeconomic headwinds, this only serves to validate our confidence and conviction in these best of breed companies and in our investment approach. We are confident that continued delivery from our investee companies combined with a renewed appreciation for the traits characterized by these companies should result in pleasing medium to longer term investor returns.
