PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The Global Balanced Portfolio returned 0.3% in April, taking 2023 returns to 1.3%.

Risk assets had a better month amid resilient global economic data and favourable Q1 earnings results. Within equities, value and more defensive areas outperformed, which supported the UK market, whilst underperformance from Technology hindered the US and emerging markets. Fixed income markets were supported by some spread compression, carry and lower rate volatility. Commodities struggled in the month amid weaker prices for agriculture, industrial metals and energy.

Against this backdrop, our UK equity investments were the top performers, including the FTSE 100 position and GLG Undervalued. Our thematic manager, Sector Healthcare, also outperformed, as did the global energy position. Our emerging markets investments trailed the rest of the portfolio, including Veritas Asia and the passive allocation. Comgest also underperformed amid style headwinds.
