PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The Global Growth Portfolio returned -4.0% in September, taking 2022 returns so far to -10.1%.

Early optimism in September was soured by a potent US inflation print and credibility issues in the UK, including an announcement of unfunded tax cuts, as well as central bank intervention. Negative returns were seen across the spectrum against this backdrop.

The portfolio outperformed in the month, with our defensive and diversifying exposures cushioning losses. Within equities, Sector Healthcare outperformed, and it was another strong month for our equity long/short managers in terms of navigating the volatility. Our long-only equity exposures saw the biggest losses, but looked better on a relative basis.
