PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

After a strong start to the year, the month showed some consolidation. AIM shares and the Numis Alternative Markets (incl-investment companies) Index declined by 2.0% in the month. The TM Stonehage Fleming AIM Fund performed better and fell by just 0.5%.

We acquired two new holdings. An interest was acquired in Trellus Health at IPO and the funds raised were for expansion of its business of digitally monitoring and assessing patients with chronic illnesses which would aid to lower emergency hospitalisation by 85%. We also acquired SigmaRoc which is a construction materials company and growing organically and also by acquisition in the UK and European markets by an experienced management team. Elsewhere we added to Kistos where we had an underweight position. The company recently acquired Netherlands gas production assets and will benefit from the rise in energy prices. We sold our interest in Watkin Jones as the shares had moved higher and out of our buying range since taking a very small interest.

Little has changed in the economic background with restrictions being gradually lifted. The COVID-19 vaccine roll out continues at an impressive rate with a large percentage of the older generation having received their second inoculation. However, new strains of the virus have emerged and there could still be some bumps in the road. At this stage, with pubs and retail returning to near normal, the hope is that the further upcoming relaxations remain intact, but uncertainties persist.

From a stock market perspective, we have been encouraged by its performance and the ability for companies to raise capital. There have been a significant number of IPOs and companies raising funds to fund expansion plans. An interesting factor has been the very strong performance of oil and gas prices which have largely gone unnoticed. It should become apparent in the next reporting season that there will be a significant increase in profitability from companies in the sector and this should be reflected in our holdings in the sector. Strength in the Pound versus the US dollar and the reported inflationary indicators could create headwinds in some areas but this current low level of interest rates should more than compensate. There could also be benefits from pent up demand as order books are reviewed and global economies recover. We therefore feel confident about the medium-term outlook for the shares held in the fund.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Derivatives have not been used but are allowed if appropriate for efficient asset management. The Fund only invests in UK assets but is allowed to hold shares on overseas exchanges. This would occur in the event of a company delisting from the London stock market and would not be expected to be material. Hence, there would be limited foreign exchange risk.

The fund invests in AIM listed companies, which can carry a higher risk of failure and be less liquid than shares listed on other exchanges. These may experience greater price movements and wider spreads (difference between the buying and selling prices) which could affect the value of the fund.
