PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The London stock market recovered well in November, and AIM shares put on a strong performance, with the Numis Alternative Markets (including investment companies) Index up by 10.2%. During this period the TM Stonehage Fleming AIM Fund increased by 15.6%.

There was considerable corporate activity, and we acquired three new holdings in the month. Trackwise, a specialist printed circuit board designer and manufacturer, raised funds at a substantial discount to the market price to facilitate expansion of its strong order book. Similarly, Mirriad, the unique advertising digital technology provider, raised funds to exploit its significant growth. Finally, Kistos listed on the stock market to raise funds for acquisitions of production North Sea oil and gas assets (the management were previously at RockRose Energy where we had a successful outcome). We added to several other holdings and reduced a number of others which had outperformed.

The stock market has taken the recent national lockdown in its stride as companies outside the retail and leisure sectors have been relatively unaffected. As a result, the London stock market has recovered strongly, led by recovery stocks which had fallen to unrealistic levels. Shares listed on AIM performed strongly as investors sought companies with good growth. In the last few months we have been able to position the portfolio to contain exciting AIM companies offering strong growth prospects. The results are bearing fruit as the fund has handsomely beaten its benchmark. On the economic front, the thought of a COVID-19 vaccine being introduced has been positive, but uncertainties still existed on the BREXIT negotiations. Most companies which we have seen have coped reasonably well with the COVID-19 pandemic and several have become more efficient as a result. It is also encouraging that oil and gas prices have shown a good recovery and interest rates are likely to stay low for the foreseeable future. Looking ahead, we feel that there is excellent long term potential from the shares held in the TM Stonehage Fleming AIM Fund.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Derivatives have not been used but are allowed if appropriate for efficient asset management. The Fund only invests in UK assets but is allowed to hold shares on overseas exchanges. This would occur in the event of a company delisting from the London stock market and would not be expected to be material. Hence, there would be limited foreign exchange risk.

The fund invests in AIM listed companies, which can carry a higher risk of failure and be less liquid than shares listed on other exchanges. These may experience greater price movements and wider spreads (difference between the buying and selling prices) which could affect the value of the fund.
