PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

On 30 October Rachael Reeve, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced her first Budget with the objective of raising £40 billion in taxation without breaking the election pledge to leave personal taxation, employee national insurance contributions, VAT and corporation tax untouched. This left little room for manoeuvre and one of the main measures was to impose an increase in national insurance contributions by companies. To mitigate against this companies would either have to increase prices or cut costs. Perhaps companies would become more efficient but inflation is likely to be squeezed which in turn could lead to interest rates staying higher than might otherwise be expected. Fortunately, rather than being removed as feared, Inheritance Tax (IHT) relief was adjusted and reduced by 50%resulting in an effective tax rate of 20%. Although not an ideal outcome it still left incentive for companies to list on AIM. Equally, the measure to bring inherited pensions into taxation might lead to the encashment of pensions to switch in AIM listed shares thereby reducing the death duty levy from 40% to 20%. In the wider market there are a large number of undervalued recovery situations and we would cite the insurance and fund management sectors where highly attractive dividend yields can be found. Another factor to affect investors was the rise in capital gains tax rate from 20% to 24% for higher rate tax payers. On a more positive note, ISA legislation was untouched with the annual contribution frozen at £20,000 was widely leaked before the Budget. Consequently, it leaves an incentive for equity investment and favours our stock picking approach.

We have seen a strong performance from a number of shares in which have been originally purchased as recovery situations or in out of favour sectors of the market and this has led us to make a number of changes in the portfolio. In particular the banking sector performed strongly which prompted us to sell our holding in Standard Chartered Bank and reduce Barclays. We sold our holding in Eckoh (technology) after it agreed to a cash takeover approach and reduced Direct Line after AVIVA indicated terms on which it wished to acquire the company. Completely new holdings were started in Ashtead Technology (oil services), Renishaw (analytical instruments and medical devices), Spirax Group (thermal energy and fluid technology), XP Power (critical power control solutions), and Schroders (asset management). All of these companies offer strong recovery prospects which are not recognised in the depressed level of their share prices. Stock market valuations are at attractive levels which may lead to further takeover activity as companies recognise the benefits of merger rationalisation and cost cutting synergies. Looking ahead, we feel that the fund portfolio consists of a large number of significantly undervalued shares which will drive long term performance.

The fund holds a broad range of AIM listed companies and some of these carry a higher risk of failure and may be less liquid than shares listed on other exchanges. These shares may be also harder to sell quickly because of this lower liquidity. AIM listed companies may also experience greater price volatility which could also affect the value of the fund.

INVESTOR PROFILE

The fund is appropriate for all investor types, including those with only a basic knowledge of funds. It is compatible with investors who do not need a capital guarantee (investors must be prepared to accept fluctuations in the value of capital, including the ability to bear 100% capital loss) and are seeking capital growth. Due to the volatility of markets, investors should be willing to accept price fluctuations in exchange for the opportunity of potentially higher returns. This is a long term investment and investors should have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years. The recommended holding period does not provide any guarantee that the objective will be achieved. This product is eligible for all distribution channels (e.g. investment advice, portfolio management, non-advised sales and pure execution services).

The fund is unlikely to be appropriate for those who:

- Are looking for full capital protection or full repayment of the amount invested, and those who want a guaranteed return
- Have no risk tolerance
- Who are unwilling to accept price fluctuations (volatility) in the value of the fund
- · Do not intend to invest for the long term

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

This is a marketing communication issued by Stonehage Fleming Investment Management Limited (SFIM). SFIM is the investment manager of the Fund. All investments risk the loss of capital. No guarantee or representation is made that the funds will achieve their investment objective. The value of investments may go down as well as up. This would occur in the event of a company delisting from the London stock market and would not expected to be material. Hence, there would be limited foreign exchange risk.
