FUND COMMENTARY

The long-awaited Autumn Budget made no direct changes to income tax, corporation tax, employee national insurance or VAT as promised in the Labour Party manifesto. However, taxation elsewhere raised an extra £26 billion to cover a budget deficit. There were also fears which were fortunately unfounded, about possible further changes in inheritance tax relief. From a positive perspective, UK interest rates remained at 4% with the tone to guide towards a further decline in December and October inflation data released was also lower at 3.6% against 3.8% for the previous three months. In addition, it was reported that because of increased tax returns the budget deficit did not exist and leaves the Chancellor Rachel Reeves with a degree of headroom moving forward. The Office for Budget Responsibility (OBR) may therefore feel that to stimulate economic growth it could allow further reductions in interest rates. President Trump is also keen for a reduction in US rates and the FED obliged with a recent cut and like the UK could also follow with a further cut in December. It is hoped that the London Stock Market attracts investor interest now that the Autumn Budget measures are known.

During the month we completed the sale of our holding in IQE (semiconductors) and reduced TT Electronics (industrial) following the agreed cash takeover bid for the company from the Swiss company Cior Technologies. For technical reason we reduced MS International (defence) and Serica (oil and gas exploration) as a prudent measure ahead of the budget and a strong performance. Following positive results and an optimistic outlook we added to Zoo Digital (dubbing services) and further additions were made to Ashtead Technology (oil services), Gulf Marine (oil services), Lion Trust (financial), STV (media). Rather disappointingly, the Chancellor of the Exchequer did not make any positive moves to encourage increased investment in North Sea drilling operations leaving shares in the sector depressed and substantially undervalued. Equally the stock market was little changed with smaller companies particularly those listed on AIM on attractive valuations. At current levels, takeover activity is likely to increase and a cut in interest rates could be the catalyst for a market recovery.

RISK PROFILE

The following risks are material:

- The price of units/shares and any income from them may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. There is no assurance that the investment objective of the Fund will actually be achieved.
- Where investments are in the shares of companies (equities), the value of those equities may fluctuate, sometimes dramatically, in response to the activities and results of individual companies or because of general market and economic conditions or other events.
- Significant exposure to a particular industrial sector or geographical region puts the Fund at risk of a localised event making a significant impact on the value of the Fund.

- Shares purchased on the AIM markets (especially those known as 'penny shares') carry a higher degree of risk of losing money than other UK shares.
- The requirements on companies that are listed on AIM market are less stringent than those for companies with a full market listing.
- There is usually a wider spread between the buying price and the selling price of these shares if they have to be sold quickly.
- There may be difficulty or delay in buying and selling shares due to a low level of trading activity on the AIM market (referred to as lack of liquidity).

All the risks currently identified as being applicable to the Fund are set out in the 'Risk' section of the Prospectus.

INVESTOR PROFILE

The fund is appropriate for all investor types, including those with only a basic knowledge of funds. It is compatible with investors who do not need a capital guarantee (investors must be prepared to accept fluctuations in the value of capital, including the ability to bear 100% capital loss) and are seeking capital growth. Due to the volatility of markets, investors should be willing to accept price fluctuations in exchange for the opportunity of potentially higher returns. This is a long term investment and investors should have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years. The recommended holding period does not provide any guarantee that the objective will be achieved. This product is eligible for all distribution channels (e.g. investment advice, portfolio management, non-advised sales and pure execution services).

The fund is unlikely to be appropriate for those who:

Are looking for full capital protection or full repayment of the amount invested, and those who want a guaranteed return

- Have no risk tolerance
- Who are unwilling to accept price fluctuations (volatility) in the value of the fund
- Do not intend to invest for the long term
